

ACHS Board Keeps Clergy At Graduation

Antioch High School's business manager, Ken Wierschem, reviewed a report for the high school board from Honeywell which shows a savings of over $90,000 in utility costs since the installation of the energy management system two years ago. Since the installation's cost was approximately $120,000, three-fourths of that cost was recouped in two years.

While the news of the savings to the school by the energy efficient installation pleased the board members, reports are that there were two heated discussions at the meeting, one concerning graduation and the other, the dispensing of a teacher's services as a coach.

ACHS has always had a member of the clergy present at graduation exercises. This year some of the board members, fearing a lawsuit because of the experience of other schools, felt that the clergy might be left out of graduation exercises.

Board member Tom Fisher, saying "that's their schools, this is ours," made a motion to have a clergy member present which was approved by a vote of 5-2.

During executive session a discussion on removing the coaching duties of one teacher was held. The majority of the board members felt that the coach had not received proper warning and a chance to remedy the problems, therefore these steps would have to be followed and ignored by the coach before it is proper to remove him as coach.

In other business of the board meeting on Thursday, April 16, Board President Robert Lindblad informed the board that the annual staff recognition day has been set for Wednesday, May 27 at 2 p.m., in the high school cafeteria. This function is to honor staff members who are leaving the system and those with 15, 20, 25, and 30 years in the system.

Sarah Redd, chairperson of the fine arts department reported on the fine arts curriculum and displayed some of the artwork the students had done.

The board also approved the employment of Sharon M. Peterson to teach biology and chemistry for 1987-88, and also Thursday, June 4, as the last day for student attendance, provided no emergency days are used.

After obtaining the board's go-ahead, ACHS will file for a grant for a summer school proposal which includes programs for both gifted and remedial students.

Principal Arthur Blecke reported on the progress made by the weighted grade committee. Some of the provisions are: three weighting classifications, standard courses, college prep courses and honors courses; a phase in period starting with a freshman class; and elimination of valedictorian and salutatorian to be replaced with cum laude students who have an exceptionally high grade point average.

AARP Fetes Easter Hats

The Antioch Chapter 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) will meet on Tuesday, April 28, at the Senior Center located at 817 Holbeck Dr., Antioch.

A complimentary luncheon will be served to persons who attended the St. Patrick's Day luncheon. The cost of the luncheon will be $5 for anyone else attending. There will be a slide presentation followed by a social gathering.

An Easter Bonnet contest was held at the April 14 meeting. First prize winner was Lori Aerne of Petite Lake, second prize went to Vicky Bock of Antioch and third prize winner was Phyllis Mingler, a resident of Loon Lake.

The AARP All Stars entertained members and guests, one of the highlights being Stella Weeks' rendition of a Sophie Tucker number.

On Saturday, May 2, the All Stars will perform at the Third Annual All Senior Talent Show to be held in Libertyville.

Merchant Says Bypass Proposal Is Senseless

Environmental considerations and protected farmlands stand as obstacles along with official opposition to the controversial proposed three-mile Rte. 12 bypass of Richmond.

To make sure that the plan being advanced by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation is sidetracked, opponents in Richmond are enlisting the support of business leaders in nearby Twin Lakes.

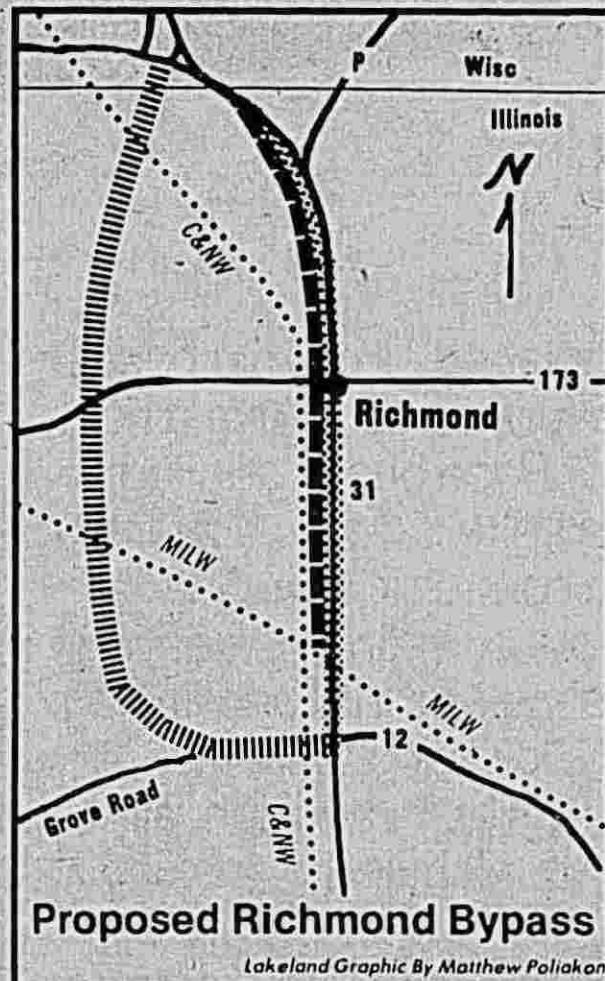

"It's a mystery why the bypass was proposed," exclaimed Leif Anderson, spokesman for Richmond opponents, as he addressed a meeting of the Twin Lakes Chamber of Commerce at Andre's Restaurant.

"It just doesn't make any sense. Our understanding is that a three-mile stretch of two-lane blacktop running through an area of protected agriculture acreage besides being an aquifer recharge area would be built at a cost of $14 to $15 million.

"The bypass would run from the stateline west of the village to a point west of Whiskey Corners, then turn east to connect at the present intersection of Rtes. 31 and 12.

"The whole project is totally wasteful and is not needed," asserted Anderson, whose candy-making business has a national reputation.

Endorse Fields

Even though he hasn't officially announced that he will be running for reelection to the county board in the November 1988 election, Antioch Twp. Supervisor and county board member from Dist. 4 Jim Fields has already got an endorsement in his pocket.

Last week, the mayor of Round Lake Beach, Carl Schrimpf, who had just jumped from the Democratic to the Republican party, endorsed Fields.

Schrimpf explains his party change by saying it was made because he felt that the Republicans had done more for his area than the Democrats.

Before Schrimpf's announcement, Fields was running a little thin in Avon Twp. The endorsement is expected to give him a lot more strength in that area.

Fields said that he attributes Schrimpf's endorsement to the work that he has done as chairman of the Northwest Regional Sanitary Advisory Committee.

Schrimpf also endorsed Field's running mate in the last election, Fred Popp of Lake Villa, another incumbent of Dist. 4.

The two candidates that have already thrown their hats in the ring for the seats now held by Fields and Popp are Larry Leafblad of Grayslake, well-known Lake County radio and advertising personality, and Suzie Schmidt, Village of Lindenhurst recreation department and Lake Villa Twp. trustee.

TEST-RIDE OUR NEW LUXURY MODELS.

Overnight, we've replaced all our old buses with luxury models! See for yourself. Take a ride on one of the new fleet of Pace buses serving Waukegan and northern Lake County. You'll find all kinds of new creature comforts, including wider aisles, roomier, more comfortable seating, and much improved heating and air conditioning. The buses even "kneel"—lowering their front steps to make boarding easier. In addition, all these new buses have wheelchair lifts, making them accessible to all riders. From now on, wheelchair users can ride to Hawthorn Center, the College of Lake County, Zion, North Chicago, in fact to anywhere in Lake County on regularly scheduled Pace bus service. And there's one more change you'll notice. Pace has color-coded its routes. In addition to a route number, each bus will have a colored marker in the window, making it doubly easy to identify. Now, more than ever, you'll like our Pace.

Get your free color-coded system map and guide to Pace's new lift-equipped buses. Call 364-PACE, ext. 4999, or the RTA Travel Center, 1-800-972-7000.

The Time Machine

TWENTY YEARS AGO — April 20, 1967

Irv Walsh, Richard Burnette and Richard Radtke won the three trustee seats in the village election.

Police Chief Jack Heick tendered his resignation to the village board.

The Antioch Village Board approved salary raises but Mayor Raymond Toft's salary remained at $600. Marilyn Sterbenz, village clerk, got a raise from $1.75 to $2 per hour; Todd Maplethorpe, water department supervisor, got a raise from $6,800 to $7,200 and police sergeant Harold Mason's salary went from $6,000 to $6,660.

The Richmond Rotary Club was pushing for the establishment of an Antioch Rotary Club.

TEN YEARS AGO: April 20, 1977

Marilyn Sterbenz was reelected village clerk and work on the Hiram Buttrick Sawmill was progressing nicely.

Outgoing Mayor Robert Wilton served at his last board meeting.

Progress was also being made in the addition to the Antioch Lower Grade School.

"Charlie's Aunt" was packing them in at PM&L.

Antioch High School's tennis teams were boasting perfect records with Dennis Korjenek and Wally Nowakowski, two of the real "lovers" on the boys team, scores that is.

Wisconsin would need some construction to provide for a connection from the four-lane limited access superhighway that runs approximately 25 miles north from the stateline to near Elkhorn, Wis.

"You know how that relocation of Rte. 12 was a disaster for Genoa City and Pell Lake. Richmond faces the same thing, and to a lesser degree than Twin Lakes," Anderson asserted.

Anderson said a 1986 highway study showed that one out of three cars turned off Rte. 12 north of Richmond on Burlington Rd. to reach resorts and recreation centers in the Twin Lakes area.

"You've got a vested interest. We need your support," Anderson told Twin Lakes businesspersons.

Anderson insisted that the idea of increasing traffic on Rte. 12 isn't supported by facts. "In fact," he remarked, "there's been a three percent decline since 1976."

The argument that the present traffic flowing through Richmond is exposed to dangers due to volume and congestion also is false, according to Anderson.

"Records show that the present route is safe. The state's own records show that the accident rate on Rte. 12 through Richmond is 'statistically insignificant.'

Anderson called for Twin Lakes businesspersons to contact public officials to oppose the bypass.

Richmond's official position, he said, is to study the benefits of a system of turning lanes through the village and expand the highway to four lanes north of the village limits to the stateline connecting points. Also, elimination of right turn on red will help, he emphasized.

"This plan will save the front yards in Richmond and save business property. It'll also save our businesses," Anderson stated flatly.

Anderson mentioned that Illinois engineers apparently are disregarding Wisconsin plans to four lane Rte. 50 from the interstate west to Lake Geneva. He said this will draw a great deal of tourist traffic off of Rte. 12.

Anderson acknowledged that Rte. 12 is congested summer weekends and holidays. But Rte. 12 back in the late 1950s when the four-lane was constructed was envisioned as handling 40,000 cars per day. High traffic counts barely reach into 20,000, he said.

Continued public hearings on the bypass are expected soon, "probably in May," Anderson reported.

Economic Laws Applied

Economics have been at the root of hard core opposition to plans for construction of a 224-bed tertiary care teaching hospital in North Chicago from the start. Existing local hospitals, with more than a little justification, have taken the position that another hospital will only worsen a declining occupancy ratio.

Economics have also contributed the underpinning of support to the proposed joint venture of Humana Corp. and the University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School. Projected benefits to the Lake County economy for construction of the $50 million, three story, 200,000 square foot hospital are projected to provide 700 construction jobs, 700 permanent jobs and $240,000 a year in property taxes.

It is ironic, indeed, that the economics of the health care industry could yet provide the salvation of the Humana-Chicago Med Hospital controversy. Dr. Marshall Falk, executive vice-president and dean, highlighted the viewpoint in commenting on a judge's decision that appears to clear the way for the high-tech teaching hospital to be built in our locality.

Dr. Falk asserted that, despite opinion to the contrary, Chicago Med leaders have always believed that the proposed hospital will help to keep the patient base of Lake County in this area, rather than see it diminish because residents are forced to seek specialized treatment elsewhere.

By definition, Humana-Chicago Med Hospital will have built-in costs where it will not be able to supply primary and secondary health care needs at a level now offered by existing hospitals. The laws of economics dictate that consumers won't go to Humana-Chicago Med, which will be geared for open-heart surgery, specialized lung care and cancer treatment, for a hernia operation or an appendectomy, simply because it will cost more.

In an area with a dynamic economy and a growing population, the laws of the market place should ultimately solve the dilemma. This rationalization dictates that the existing hospitals will be able to keep beds filled adequately with primary and secondary care patients while Humana-Chicago Med Hospital will supply tertiary needs.

The question is whether we can have it both ways? Basic economics says yes.

Bypass Argument Valid

Village officials and business leaders in Richmond are making a strong argument against plans of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation to construct a three-mile bypass of Rte. 12 around the stateline community.

Rte. 12, historically a major corridor linking Lakeland with the northwest side of Chicago, has been a "poor cousin" as far as highway improvements are concerned for a long time. In the euphoric days of federal road building 30 years ago, Rte. 12 was seen as a four-lane limited access superhighway from Chicago to Madison. Wisconsin rerouted Rte. 12 and four-laned the highway to the stateline. In Illinois, Rte. 12 is mostly double lane from Volo to Richmond. A grandiose plan to loop the entire Chain O'Lakes area westward from a link point at Big Hollow with the four-lane continuation of Rte. 120 northward to the state line is still only a plan in the state highway department.

Richmond leaders are arguing against the bypass because 1) it is not needed; 2) adverse environmental impact; 3) violates protected farm lands; 4) would be economically devastating to the village which has gained a reputation as a midwest mecca for antiques.

Leif Anderson, a businessman who has been spearheading efforts to head off the bypass, declared: "It's a mystery why it has been proposed." No one argues that traffic doesn't bottleneck summer weekends and holidays. Business people are delighted because tourists can get better acquainted as they slowly wend their way through the cumbersome turn-off and through the village. In rebuttal to arguments that the narrow highway is unsafe, they point out that the state's own records reveal a "statistically insignificant" accident rate. Further, traffic actually has declined on a percentage basis in the last 10 years, insist Richmond leaders, who regard increasing traffic as a myth.

What they offer as a solution to smooth out summer traffic flow is a system of turning lanes from the north edge of the village to the stateline connecting point and elimination of right turn on red through the village.

At this point, Richmond seems to have the better of the argument, but as countless municipalities have discovered, the state highway department moves like a glacier, eventually getting what it wants—hang the obstacles.

Anderson offers a neat twist to the argument against the bypass. Seventy-five percent of the funding for the estimated $14 million project would be federal. This means that everyone can legitimately speak out against the proposal "because all our money is involved" as Anderson puts it.

Under the circumstances, it seems like the highway engineers could find a better place to spend money than on the proposed Richmond bypass.

Landfill Shopping List

While Lake County officials and concerned citizens are struggling to deal with a proposal by Waste Management of Illinois to erect a solid waste disposal facility, nearby Kane County has discovered an innovative pathway to cooperation with the waste disposal giant.

Waste Management will contribute $1.2 million to pay the bulk of the cost to build a minor league baseball stadium next to a dump it operates near Geneva. A Waste Management official referred to the contribution as public relations. The baseball stadium is the dream of Philip Elfstrom, president of the Kane County Forest Preserve. Plans are to build a 3,000 seat stadium to house a Class A minor league team in the Midwest League that will take the field in 1988.

Even as baseball is being played in one corner of the landfill area, there's a possibility that a $20 million research laboratory will be built on another corner of the landfill center known as Settler's Hill.

Elfstrom and Kane County are to be congratulated on enterprise. What's wrong with Lake County doing the same thing? If we don't need a minor league baseball team or a laboratory at the mid-county landfill site, what else would be beneficial? Formulating a shopping list makes sense. Our thoughts run along the lines of a tennis complex or a golf course. But then you might have better ideas.

Daley Had Right Idea About Political Polls

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

In the Mad Hatter's world of election campaigns, the public opinion poll may be the most used—and abused—form of political gamemanship. Americans have a fascination for knowing who the winner is going to be, who is leading the pack, who is slipping, who is gaining. Reputable pollsters freely acknowledge that poll-taking is an inexact science.

We're already being inundated with results of public opinion polls purporting to tell us which candidates are ahead in the races for the 1988 presidential nominations. The frontrunners are Vice-President George Bush for the Republicans and former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart for the Democrats.

Two presidential elections in particular, dramatize why we should distrust the public opinion polls. Fifty years ago, The Literary Digest was a national magazine. It conducted a vast postcard poll before four presidential elections, and had won a reputation for uncanny accuracy.

In 1936, The Literary Digest predicted that Republican candidate, Alfred E. Landon, would defeat Democratic President Franklin D. Roosevelt by nearly 15 percentage points. Landon was overwhelmingly defeated in the greatest electoral vote landslide of the 20th Century. FDR carried 46 out of 48 states, losing only Maine and Vermont to the GOP nominee.

Roosevelt's electoral majority over Landon was 523-8. The Literary Digest, which never quite recovered its self-confidence, soon followed Landon into oblivion. What went wrong? The magazine had sent out millions of postcards to telephone subscribers and people on automobile-registration lists asking how they intended to vote.

In the Depression years only the relatively wealthy had telephones and automobiles, which excluded a vast number of low-income Roosevelt voters. Moreover, there is a much greater tendency for people of wealth and education to return mail questionnaires so that the bias in favor of people likely to vote Republican was further enhanced.

Every major public opinion survey of 1948 forecast a victory for Republican candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, over Democratic President Harry S. Truman. There were two third-party candidates: Progressive Henry Wallace and Dixiecrat Strom Thurmond. Wallace represented the extreme left of the Democratic party while Thurmond symbolized the extreme right of the FDR New Deal coalition.

Commentary

The 1948 polls relied upon a "quota-control" method, in which respondents were selected to fit a cross section of the national electorate. There were so many Democrats, so many Catholics, so many blacks, so many women, etc. All these voting groups were proportionate to the national totals.

But interviewers proved reluctant to go into the northern urban slums to seek out low-income Democrats, who tended to vote for President Harry S. Truman. In order to fill out the quotas, the pollster interviewed a disproportionate number of low-income Democrats in the South, who tended to vote for Dixiecrat Thurmond.

Due to the solid proportions of Dewey's apparent victory, the pollsters stopped interviewing voters too early to detect the late-building Truman surge. The pollsters quit polling in the middle of October, 1948.

That year, there was a large population of undecided voters. The pollsters assumed that these undecided people would split their vote 50-50 in the election. The undecided, however, voted 75 percent for Harry S. Truman.

The polling organization analysts, disbelieving the pro-Truman results late in the campaign, arbitrarily "corrected" them in favor of Thomas E. Dewey. What does that mean? The public opinion firms distorted the results in order to fit their predictions. Science elected Landon in 1936 and Dewey in 1948. But the country selected Roosevelt and Truman in the same elections.

The late Mayor Richard J. Daley was right. The only poll that counts is on election day.

Editor's Viewpoint

by BILL SCHROEDER

LIKE BASIC—Leonard Dam looks at service on the village board like Marine Corps bootcamp—a great experience, but you only want to go through it once.

Dam, who is a partner in a certified public accounting practice headquartered in Fox Lake, is rounding out a four-year term on the Fox Lake village council. He chose not to run for reelection. His last council meeting will be May 4.

"Four years is enough," Lenny said with a sigh. He'll continue to be active in public affairs, mainly as a member of the Lake County Economic Development Commission. Dam also is treasurer of the Lake County Economic Development Corp.

BOWING OUT—Another village councilman who will be bowing out when newly elected trustees are seated is Charles Lucas, dean of west Lake County village officials. Lucas is concluding 28 years as a Grayslake village trustee. The only other village official approaching Lucas in time of service in this locality is Mayor Henry Paulus of Lake Zurich, who has 24 years' service as trustee, village clerk and mayor. Lucas' tenure came to an abrupt halt in the April election. Maybe the voters didn't always agree with Lucas, but his dedication, honesty and hard work goes unchallenged. Charlie is a model for newcomers in village politics.

REMEMBERING—Hey, kids! Remember your grade school science project? Dr. Earl Newton of Antioch does. Newton, who maintains a dental practice in Racine, is observing the 20th anniversary of winning a statewide competition in seventh grade science. What was the subject of his project? Dentistry, naturally.

NEW BOOK—In San Francisco, he's James L. Sorensen, Ph.D., a practicing psychologist and authority on substance abuse. In Antioch, he's Jim Sorensen, Les and Beverly's son.

Dr. Sorensen has a new book that has been an instant success and is attracting attention in media circles, "A Family Like Yours: Breaking the Patterns of Drug Abuse."

When it comes to writing, Jim can attest to the fact that it's a "win some, lose some" proposition. He and his mother several years ago were collaborating on a book we thought would make it big. They were comparing life in the city and life in a small town through the pages of the Antioch News and San Francisco Chronicle. Unfortunately, they ran into problems with copyright laws and other legalities. It's nice to know that his latest literary effort is going well.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Pop has to admit that time is flying by. The same day that he helped Karen work out the details on purchase of her first car, Bob injected a jolter: "Dad, you know I'll be able to vote next year." Kids do things differently nowadays. I was able to vote before I bought my first car.

will be available throughout the evening. Bidding on the silent auction will be continuous.

Donated auction items range from a handmade dulcimer to command performances of musical "chamber-style" groups; from an afternoon's sail on Lake Michigan to a week's stay in a condo in the Virgin Islands; from five hours of housecleaning to legal representation in preparation of a will.

Donation for the event is $20 per person and includes the dinner and the entertainment. To make reservations or to view the complete catalog of auction items, call the Jack Benny Center, (312) 244-1660.

Hours for the exhibit are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. A dinner will be held in conjunction with the show at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 25, at Mitch's Restaurant, 3211 Belvidere, Park City. All interested persons are invited to attend.

She is one of the most highly respected artists in the U.S.A., Grand Ole Opry star, MCA recording artist and author of the best seller, "Coalminers Daughter," starring Sissy Spacek, which became one of the hit movies of 1980. The Ladies Home Journal named Lynn among its most important women in America.

This concert was originally scheduled for the Genesee on Oct. 26, 1986, but had to be rescheduled as Lynn had to be admitted to the hospital for minor surgery.

The show is back on the road and Lynn is feeling better.

Tickets are $21.50, $18.50 and $16, available at all Ticketron outlets, Sears and the Genesee Box Office. For complete information and Accompanying herself on banjo, guitar and mountain dulcimer, Luther sings traditional songs of the United States and the British Isles, weaving in bits of history about the songs and inviting her audiences to sing along.

Opening both shows will be Mark Dvorak, a fine player of traditional and contemporary folk music.

Admission is $5 for adults, $4.50 for members, $2 for senior citizens and children

Graduates

Airman Chad A. Ver-showski, son of Allan Ver-showski of Twin Lakes, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He is a 1985 graduate of Salem Central High School, Kenosha.

Artists To Attend Fest

The North Suburban Art Festival on Friday, May 1 will highlight artistic growth for students and artistic appreciation for the general public. Antioch High School will participate in the third festival, to be held at Niles North High School.

The 10 school represented, Antioch, Perton, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Mundelein, Niles North, North Chicago, Stevensen, Warren and Zion-Benton will each display 40 pieces of their students' best artwork.

Exclusive to participating students is a morning program which offers specialized workshops. The evening exhibition of 400 student works of art, culminating in a reception and awards presentation, is open to the public.

The evening program promises to delight the senses. Accompanying the viewing of student artwork in the school's west cafeteria at 7 p.m. will be the sounds of the Niles North String Quartet. A continuous slide show of the 10 schools' art students in action will augment the visual aspect. Refreshments complete the play of the senses.

Awards for the six outstanding projects from each school, judged by a panel from another participating school, will be presented at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to witness the North Suburban Art Festival's visual pot-pourri free of charge. Niles North High School is located at 9800 N. Lawler Ave., just west of the Old Orchard Shopping Center in Skokie.

Wolves To Honor Chain's Orchestra At Pop Concert

Nancy and Dick Wolff met 37 years ago at a couples mixer while attending Marquette University. Dick proposed to Nancy two weeks after the couple started dating, and they spent much of their time taking long walks and holding hands. Their self-described "love at first sight" relationship has seen them through 35 years of marriage, 17 children and a remarkable music career.

Nancy has a deep love for music, having played the piano since the first grade, so it was only natural to share this interest with her children. She took advantage of the lessons to spend time with each child individually. She soon added horn lessons, and with everyone learning as they went along, the Wolff family was well on its way to becoming a band.

When the children began to express an interest in strings, Georgia Cobb, conductor and violinist, stepped in and instructed the children in violin, cello and bass.

Norris Romeo of Mundelein, instructed the family as a group, teaching drums to Dick. The children have also received lessons from the College of Lake County, and from Kevin Gavin with the Jack Benny Center.

The Wolff family performs a variety of music from big band to country. They show a great versatility in style as well as musical ability, with many family members equally talented on a number of instruments.

The Wolves have received a great deal of exposure on such programs as "Chicago's Very Own" on WGN, WBBM's "Two on Two," "Looking Up" on CNN, "That's Incredible" on ABC, and are featured in an interview with John McCullough on Milwaukee's WTMJ, to be aired May 30.

They have also been interviewed for many publications, including Women's World, US and the upcoming May issue of The Star.

As founding member of the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra, the Wolves continue to lend their support to the orchestra and its endeavors. The Wolves' next scheduled appearance is on April 26 at Maravella's in Fox Lake for the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra's "Pop Concert and Dance."

The program includes the Wolff Band playing dance music from the big-band era as well as other selections.

The event follows ceremonies for the opening of Fox Lake's Community Center and birthday celebration. For ticket information, phone Karen Nowak at (312) 546-4561.

Is Health Care Rationing Going To Be Our Future?

There is a medical care crisis which is noted in the press and TV media and their main focus is on those people that they see as mainly being affected. These include for the most part the elderly and indigent. The one left out is you, because if you have medical insurance you are not considered as being in jeopardy.

Actually, if you've paid your premium lately or have been induced by your employer to change to a different plan you may already see that you are getting less care for more money. If you've read these Musings you have already begun to get a glimpse of why this is so.

Medical usings

By Leo Tannenbaum, M.D.

First let's get out of the way the obvious fact that we have the finest care in the world and it's advancing so rapidly that the technology developed to keep us alive is more costly. Also, that results in more elderly with their attendant diseases. There is, as yet, no cure for age and their constant need for care. One answer: we could say let's stop doing the research and advances so costs will be less. It may surprise you that a small lunatic fringe has already hinted at this. There is ample historical precedent in the Industrial Revolution when people were told that the advent of the machine would cause loss of jobs and mass starvation. It didn't, because you can't stop people from looking for ways to do things quicker and better. You won't stop people from doing the same to live longer and healthier lives either. In the earlier instance, more jobs were created. In the present dilemma, as research continues, there may be developed cheaper ways to cure or prevent disease. Another example was the belief that population would outstrip food production but we got better at that and now we worry about producing surpluses!

What I find most insidious is the very persuasive line that since medical care is so expensive not everyone can have it and it will have to be rationed. Repeated often enough, it gains credibility. Using that reasoning we should have systematically rationed food 200 years ago, starved people and never had to find ways to raise crops so we could feed them.

You may not have thought of it this way, but when you accept the principle of an HMO or PPO that tells you what medical care you are permitted, you have already accepted that you must be rationed, exactly for the old reasons of cost historically and repeatedly proven wrong.

Interestingly, industry and the government which have together been the most ardent proponents of the prepaid plans limiting care, especially HMOs (Health Maintenance Organizations) have found through studies by consultant organizations that money is not being saved. No one denies that these plans have resulted in decreasing care. This bears repeating: There is less care for about the same money.

There is an intriguing thought here. When will the government find out it is backing the wrong horse? Government action is somewhat like a huge battleship under full steam. If you want to stop it or even change course, it would take a couple of miles because of the ponderous inertia involved. That is, if a change were even wanted. You see, there are too many people who have something going for them with the present course. There is a whole rooting section for it. This battleship has barnacles that need scraping by an informed public opinion that doesn't panic at what the TV media says.

Let's look at the barnacles in this and other columns. Some are planted; some just stumbled into good fortune. All cry "crisis." Some are so money-oriented that medical care becomes secondary.

Musings: One of the lucky ones is the insurance industry. It really can't lose consistently. If it pays out too much one year, it just raises the premiums the next year or decides not to insure money-losing groups at all any more. The figures for these decisions are closely held. Your state can ask them for the figures if the public says the premiums are high and are not warranted by losses. If the company has too much money, it can say the money is being held in reserve in case the losses next year are high. Since the state by law requires reserves, it can't be too punitive. I have heard of a company which, when told that it couldn't insure in the state if it didn't show its figures, said "We won't insure here" and left the state. Again, the reason was "crisis."

Musings: Several months ago I read a caption on a column in a financial journal. It hailed the fact that an umbrella group of insurance giants was glad to announce that their "crisis" was now coming under control. With gladdened heart I prepared myself to read that they were now able to insure some municipalities so the kids would be able to play on the playgrounds and the high schools would be able to engage in sports again, or maybe they had licked the problem of high medical malpractice insurance rates for doctors that were pure of heart and never had a suit, or even that they would pay legitimate claims now in a quicker way. But alas, none of the above were involved in their success. They had solved their prospective crisis by premium "changes" and by the elimination or modification of those unprofitable classes that created the costliest claims, so now their bottom lines were safe. Another triumph for shrewd money management.

Musings believes medical rationing is already here and ready to grow. It needs more attention. We won't solve all problems but we may actually decrease costs by pointing out the barnacles.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Carmel High School and a 1986 graduate of Northern Illinois University. She is employed as a job placement specialist at The Lambs, Inc.

Her fiancé is a 1982 graduate of Oak Park-River Forest High School and a 1986 graduate of Northern Illinois University. He is employed as a management trainee at Genuine Parts Co., Phoenix, Ariz.

Oatmeal Pancakes, Low-Fat

It hardly seems fair. The most important meal of the day comes when many people are still half asleep. It's breakfast, of course, a meal that should send everyone off in the morning with 1/4 to 1/3 of their daily nutrition requirements.

Each member of a family needs a well-balanced meal to start the day. And with the busy, erratic schedules of active families—late nights at the office, evening basketball practice, night classes, etc.—breakfast is one of the few meals a family is likely to eat at home.

The key to preparing nutritious and appealing breakfasts, says Karen Collins, MS, RD, of the American Institute for Cancer Research, is to plan ahead to save time in the morning. Set the table the night before and put out cereal boxes and other items that don't require refrigeration. Pre-preparation can be a real timesaver: chill fruits and juices, mix up pancake batter, or put together a fruit compote before going to bed.

Breakfast doesn't have to be a bore. The following recipe will help wake up sleepy morning appetites with a wholesome, nutritious breakfast.

Oatmeal adds an interesting new flavor to a traditional breakfast.

favorite. This recipe is designed to be low in fat, so don't add extra butter or margarine at the table. Instead, top with fresh fruit, applesauce or syrup.

Focus On Food

1 1/2 cups quick cooking oatmeal
3/4 cup unsifted whole wheat flour
1 tbs. sugar
1 tsp. baking soda
2 tbs. oil
2 cups buttermilk (or 2 cups skim milk plus 2 tsp. lemon juice)
1 egg
Optional flavorings: 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 tsp maple flavor, cinnamon or nutmeg to taste

Combine oatmeal, flour, sugar and baking soda in bowl. Add oil, milk, egg and any optional flavorings desired. Stir vigorously until thoroughly mixed. Let batter stand at room temperature for 30 minutes.

Drop mixture from spoon onto preheated griddle or skillet. Bake until bubbles form, then turn and bake on other side, serve and top with favorite syrup or fruit topping.

This will yield about eight pancakes, four inches in diameter, of about 170 calories and six grams of fat each.

Cook County Ruling Gives Go-Ahead To New Hospital

by STEVE PETERSON

A ruling in a Cook County courtroom could mean more medical care closer to home for Lake County residents.

The court ruling upheld the Certificate of Need granted to Humana Inc. to build a 224-bed hospital with the cooperation of University of Health Sciences-The Chicago Medical School.

At a North Chicago City Hall press conference, Bob

Byrne, chairman of the Citizens Committee for a Chicago Medical School Hospital, said that ground-breaking for the Chicago Medical School Hospital could be just 60 to 75 days away. A group of Lake County hospitals seeking to stop the new hospital from being built in North Chicago have 30 days to appeal a Cook County court ruling.

"It is our strong desire - and intention - to go forward with plans to provide a type of sophisticated tertiary care which has not been available in this area," Thompson said.

Byrne said he does not think the hospitals will appeal.

"If they do not appeal, they would not see the frustrations they would create in doing it and they will lose," Byrne said.

North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson said the economic impact of the $50 million structure on North Chicago could mean 700 construction jobs and 700 permanent jobs and $240,000 in property tax revenue to the city.

"This will bring new people into the city, new tax dollars and hopefully many new residents to make North Chicago their home," Thompson said.

Dr. Charles Thomas, Supt. at North Chicago Dist. 64, said the district would not benefit from tax dollars but could benefit from increased enrollment.

"It will mean more kids for the district," he said. The children would attend Katzenmaier School.

Byrne urged all those fighting the North Chicago hospital to end their opposition.

"I am sincerely hoping that this decision will be the end of a long process which has cost the Lake County area so much. The opposition had four attorneys in court. It is estimated that $500,000 has been spent by various hospital administrators in their efforts to preclude Lake County from having our own Trauma I Center and tertiary care facility. This itself is outrageous. And what is even more sad is that the patients in the objecting hospitals are the ones paying for these disgraceful expenditures," Byrne said.

Byrne, who is also president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce, said the University Medical School will be working with area hospitals.

"I will do all in my power to see all the hospital administrators get together with the new hospitals administrators get together with the new administrators get together with the new administrator of Chicago Medical School Hospital. It will probably take a while to get networking down to a science. I will really try to make that happen in an expedient fashion," Byrne said.

Thompson said that after the hospital is built, patients will not need to go to places like Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN, Pittsburgh, Chicago, or Milwaukee for their medical needs.

"Right now, Trakelia Gordon, the young child I sponsored for a liver transplant is back in Pittsburgh along with her mother for further tests. All medical needs could have been handled right here in our county," Thompson said.

Alms For Middle Class!

by GLORIA DAVIS

Well it's all over for another year! Uncle Sam has hit our pocketbooks for his annual touch. Correct me if I'm wrong, even though the new tax laws were not in effect for this one, didn't he seem to be leaning a little heavier than usual?

At least as far as my husband and I were concerned, "his usual touch" seemed more like a tap with an axe!

Does the guy who makes $1 million per year have to pay the same proportionate half of his income or $500,000 in taxes or has he the availability of a lot of loopholes we middle class citizens find out of our realm?

Besides all men being "created equal" let's have all men paying equal.

I've got a few more bones to pick with our glorious IRS.

Back in 1955, the then head of the IRS, T.

When I Think About It

And now we have an entire year to work almost six months for the greater glory of Washington's checkbook.

I'm speaking as a member of the ever put-upon, much maligned, ever victimized "middle class."

Ever since the United States invented us, the abuse has been growing!

As a whole, we are the committed citizens, the ones who hold responsible jobs, pay our bills, work for our schools and our communities and usually pay our taxes (if we can).

And for being such good citizens, every time a new tax plan appears we are lucky enough to get the biggest tax increase or the largest decrease in deductibles!

They keep making the forms more and more complicated so that, not only do we have to pay to find out how much we have to pay, but that price keeps increasing right along with the taxes.

They keep telling us that this is the price we pay for "having the greatest country on earth!"

Ok, Ok, I'll go along with that. But let's have everyone kick in their equal share!

One of the things that makes this country the greatest is the existence of the middle class. But you keep hitting this guy when he's down and one of these days he's not going to get up and maybe this "greatest" country will be just like so much of the rest of the world with two classes, those that have and those that don't!

You all know where the inequities lie. The fellow on welfare pays no taxes and though he gets less, at least he gets to keep it all.

Coleman Andrews said, "We are not the bosses of the taxpayers, they are ours."

Have you ever seen so many employers shake in their boots when the mere suggestion of a visit from their hirelings is made?

Why is the mighty Internal Revenue Service not governed by the same laws as every other service, business and citizen in this good old U.S. of A?

They seem to be able to walk in and do just whatever moves them with an unequalled autonomy.

One thing that has always galled me is the fact that I have to pay interest on money I owe them but they can keep money overpaid to them for over a year without paying one penny of interest in return.

In fact, most taxpayers seem to be ever so thankful when they are "lucky" enough to get their own money returned to them in a reasonable amount of time.

A quote from the Farmer's Almanac sums up all my complaints, "If Patrick Henry thought taxation without representation was bad, he should see how bad it is with representation."

I guess a good old fashioned Boston Tea Party is out dated! How about we move all our compactors down to Malibu and have a grab and smash party using everything labeled Honda, Toshiba, Toyota, etc. before the attack of American dollars, funneled through their Japanese bank accounts, accomplish what the attack on Pearl Harbor failed to do.

Maybe it's too late, I hear the sons of the Rising Sun have practically bought Hawaii for their vacation home!

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Millburn Church or the Order of the Eastern Star in Mrs. Clark's memory.

Interment was at Millburn Cemetery.

Gabrielle Biondo

Funeral services for Gabrielle Marie Biondo, 72, of Fox Lake, were held Thursday, April 16 at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch.

Mrs. Biondo died Monday, April 13 at her home. She was born Dec. 22, 1914 in Brussels, Belgium. She lived in Chicago for many years before moving to Fox Lake in 1984. She was a member of the Leisure

Now on to the theatrics! Antioch High School's Fine Arts Dept. will present "Cinderella," a musical fairy tale with special effects and fancy rented costumes at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 23, Friday, April 24, and Saturday, April 25.

The ACHS Student Council will also sponsor a special afternoon performance in conjunction with the senior citizen dinner for the second year in a row.

This weekend is also the "last hurrah" and performances for PM&L's "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." Curtain time for the April 24 and 25 shows is 8 p.m., and reservations are a must! Call (312) 395-3055.

Finally, the Dist. 34 fourth and fifth grade bands, under the direction of Linda Schotka-Johnson, will present their spring concert at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 28, at William C. Petty School.

This will be your opportunity to see and hear how much progress has been made over the year by these little ones who had never held an instrument in their hands before and by the fifth graders who became a "real" band with twice-weekly rehearsals during the school year. Come and support the future adults of Antioch in such a fine endeavor!

one concert. That gives us all a great chance to help others and have a good time, too!

For most of us, football is over (At least until the fall), but for one Antioch man and his dedicated staff, football is never really over. After the last play has been made and the last ball has been kicked comes the massive job of collecting, sorting and storing away of equipment for over 100 young players.

Along with this task comes the deciding of what equipment needs to be replaced. According to Antioch Viking Junior Tackle Football League President Nick Pappadakis, "Safety is directly related to the equipment... and the most important need is for a good helmet... The helmet we buy is the 'best' from a safety standpoint."

For the past three weeks, the Viking organization has been soliciting the community for pledges for monies to replace all the featherweight league helmets. Said Pappadakis, "To date the community has been very responsive. Based on pledges to date, we are very optimistic that we will be able to do so. We are very appreciative of the and fashion show fund raiser on Saturday, April 25, at the Antioch VFW Hall, North Ave. Donation is $10; for reservations call (312) 395-3362.

Century 21-Michael Warren and Co. will sponsor their third annual Easter Seal Benefit on Sunday, April 26 at the Country House, Rte. 173 and Tiffany Rd., Antioch. A dinner-buffet will be held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. with an auction and dance to the music of Larry Leafblad and the Scotch Lads following from 6:30 p.m. on.

Over $1,000 worth of merchandise has been donated by local businesses for the auction. According to Mike Warren, "All proceeds from the evening will go to Easter Seals. In 1986, 90 Antioch-area persons were served by the Easter Seal organization either through therapy, rehabilitation, artificial limbs or camp programs."

Warren also reports that he had the pleasure to personally present singer Pat Boone, National Easter Seal Telethon Host, with the $9,300 proceeds from the 1986 Antioch benefit. Cost is $12.50 per person. Reser-

Cancer Society To Sponsor Hozhoni Weekend In May

The Childhood Cancer Subcommittee of the American Cancer Society, Wisconsin Div., Inc. will sponsor Hozhoni Weekend for families experiencing childhood cancer. The weekend will be held May 15, 16 and 17 at Camp Wabek, located off Hwy. 13 in the Wisconsin Dells.

During the weekend the children will be divided into groups according to age, and programs will be planned for them and their parents. Activities will include swimming, hiking, dancing and singing. Highlights will be a chuckwagon supper and a barn dance.

The cost of the weekend is $20 for the first four family members and $5 for each additional person. Meals and barrack sleeping arrangements are included in this fee. Checks should be made payable to American Cancer Society, Wisconsin Div., Inc., 615 N. Sherman Ave., P.O. Box 8370, Madison, WI 53708.

Applications will be accepted through May 1 for the weekend which is limited to 150 persons, including family members.

To be eligible, the family must reside in a county serviced by the Wisconsin Div. (This includes all Wisconsin counties except Milwaukee County.) The child should be under 18 years of age and have undergone treatment within the past five years. All immediate family members are also welcome to attend.

Hozhoni is a Navajo word meaning completed circle of harmony. Positive health for the Navajo involves proper relationship to everything in one's environment, not just the correct functioning of one's physiology. The weekend was developed to assist families in dealing with their feelings and to make parents aware of the effects one child's illness can have on the entire family.

For further information, call the American Cancer Society at (608) 249-0487.

Funds for this special service project were committed by the Wisconsin Division Board of Directors from the 1985 Crusade.

Panthers Win Tourney, Edge Central's Falcons

WILMOT — The Wilmot High School softball team won the Whitewater Tournament for the fourth consecutive year after blanking Orfordville, 4-0, and trouncing Whitewater, 7-2.

Wilmot's star pitcher, Jesse McKay, pitched both games, shutting-out Orfordville by only allowing seven hits with the rest of the team making up for even those few by playing an errorless game.

In the game for the "gold," the Panthers scored all of their hits (7) in the third, making a grand slam return with two men out.

Whitewater countered with two runs in the sixth held by the Panther defense.

That gave the Panthers a 5-0 season as they went into a game against Union Grove on Tuesday.

On Friday, the Panthers took on their arch-rivals the Central High School Falcons edging them 5-4 in a cliff hanger that looked like it was going Central's way for awhile.

Joanne Franz was the big reason for the Panther win in this one, knocking Wilmot's first and final runs home.

The game began with Franz hitting a triple to bring home Wilmot's first score after the Falcons led by two, with Brigitte Malin tripling and Gail Kluender tapping a safe bunt and Shelley Keller singling Kluender home right after Malin scored.

Mary Jones then hit a double bringing Debbie Kowalke in, putting the Falcons three runs ahead.

The next one across home plate was Panther Teri Nolan in the fourth scoring after Franz hit the triple and everything was all tied up in the fifth inning, 3-3.

That's when a Central error left Tracey Haley and Jenny Kramer safe on base, both scoring. It was Franz who scored Wilmot's leading run in the sixth, making it 5-3. Central countered when Cathy Pritchard scored on Angie Kerkman's two-bagger but the game ended before the Falcons could tie the game up again.

Schedule La Leche Meeting

Breastfeeding a baby is the most natural thing a mother can do with her child. But often there are problems or questions mothers face that are difficult to find answers for.

LaLeche League was formed in response to these needs. An extensive library is available for resources in solving breastfeeding problems. Also, monthly meetings are held. The meetings are informal, and any mother and her baby are welcome to attend.

The topic of this month's meeting, "The Art of Breastfeeding - and Overcoming Difficulties," is the third in a series of four. The meeting will be held at St. John the Evangelist Church on North Lake Ave. in Twin Lakes, across from Sentry Shopping Center.

Oakland Student Wins National Grand Prize

In December 1986, Scholastic, Inc. ran a contest through Arrow Book Club inviting fourth-, fifth and sixth grade students to write about the experiences of a relative or neighbor who had immigrated to America. This was done as part of the launch of "An American Tail," an animated film which relates the story of an immigrant mouse.

In a random drawing from more than 9,000 entries, fourth grader Tim Doyle of Oakland Grade School in Atnicoh was chosen the Grand Prize Winner.

A resident of Lake Villa, Doyle is also very active in Cub Scout Pack 191; his rank is Bear.

He is currently looking forward to the soccer and baseball season in which he plans to participate. His teacher, Marie Sheldon, also won a prize.

Doyle's grand prize was a visit on April 14, from Emmy Award winners Tony Geiss and Judy Freudberg who wrote the screenplay for the movie, "An American Tail."

Tim Doyle

Prior to "An American Tail," they were chosen to write the screenplay of the first "Sesame Street" feature film, "Follow That Bird," which was released in 1985.

Spring Wildflowers Start To Bloom In Forest Preserves

According to naturalists at the Edward L. Ryerson Conservation Area in Deerfield, the annual display of spring wildflowers will begin to bloom this month in local forest preserves.

"This is the best time of the year to observe wildflowers at Ryerson Woods," explained Sarah Scharnoski, naturalist. "In the springtime the majority of woodland wildflowers emerge, bloom, and go to seed within a few weeks. During that time, the forest floor is literally covered with blossoms. Later, when the trees leaf out the forest becomes too dark for many plants to flower."

Ryerson Woods will sponsor flower walks for the public on two Saturdays, May 2 and 9. Family programs begin at 1 p.m. "Adults only" programs begin at 3 p.m. Reservations are required and can be made by calling (312) 948-7750. The fee is 50 cents for Lake County residents and $1 for non-residents.

Don Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve, said: "Ryerson is one of the best spots in the county to see the flowers. It's been protected from human disturbance for such a long time."

Other Lake County preserves with outstanding displays are Van Patten Woods near Zion and Daniel Wright Woods near Halfday.

The public is reminded that picking wildflowers is against the law and can result in a fine of $200.

The Ryerson Conservation Area is located on Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield, between Deerfield and Halfday Rds.

CLC Workshop Will Train Volunteers

The College of Lake County is hosting a day-long conference for volunteer literacy tutors on Saturday, April 25. The conference, sponsored by the Lake County Literacy Program and the Northern Area Adult Service Center, will consist of 16 workshops on how to teach reading and writing skills to literacy students. Workshop leaders are adult education instructors and reading specialists.

The Lake County Literacy Program is a cooperative effort of the Volunteers in Tutoring Adult Learners (VITAL) at CLC, the Lake County Area Planning Council for Adult Education, Libraries for Literacy, and Literacy Volunteers of Lake County. The literacy program helps adults who have limited or no reading skills. Trained volunteer tutors help literacy students acquire the reading and writing skills they need to function at home, at work and in the community. Some tutors work with adults who need to learn English as well.

The literacy program is funded by grants from the Illinois State Board of Education, the Secretary of State and the Quaker Oats Foundation.

Extension Service Offers Safety Training

"Operation Safe Kids" training will be offered by the Cooperative Extension Service at 4 p.m. on Monday, April 27, at the Extension Auditorium in Grayslake (near the fairgrounds). Parents and others interested in teaching children safe practices to observe while home alone, going to and from school, or in regards to strangers are urged to attend. Those enrolled in the training session will receive an instructional packet and will preview three movies on safety. For more information or to register, call (312) 223-8627.

Schaffer Introduces Bill To Protect Groundwater

List State Fair Grandstand Shows

Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry County) has introduced legislation which would restore, protect and improve the state's groundwater supply as a natural and public resource.

"There is a definite need to strengthen groundwater protection for both the future economic development of this state and the health and welfare of the citizens of this state. We can't afford to let our water supply be contaminated, not only because of the high costs and difficulty with cleaning up the situation afterwards, but also because of the potential health problems people may suffer as a result of the contaminated drinking water," the Senate Minority Whip said. "This legislation is necessary to prevent contamination from happening by protecting the quality of groundwater."

The legislation creates the Comprehensive Groundwater Protection Act, which would require the regulation of community water supplies by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and non-community water wells by the Dept. of Public Health, and allow people whose wells have been contaminated to recover the resulting damage costs from the owner of the pollution source which caused the contamination.

"More than five million people in Illinois rely on groundwater for at least part of their water needs and 74 percent of the public water supply systems use groundwater as a supply source. These figures clearly show that we must provide sufficient amounts of high quality groundwater for the future economic and residential development of this state," Schaffer said.

The legislation is the result of the findings of a task force appointed by Gov. James Thompson in 1986 to review the situation and make final recommendations for groundwater protection legislation.

Five popular acts have been added to the Wisconsin State Fair grandstand entertainment line-up. The 1987 Fair dates are Aug. 6 through 16.

Peter, Paul and Mary will fill the grandstand with their beautifully harmonized folk classics on Saturday, Aug. 8. Ticket prices are $8, $10 and $13.50.

Hulkmania, a World Wrestling Federation event featuring Hulk Hogan, will delight fans on Sunday, Aug. 9 at 2 p.m. Ringside seats located on the track and grandstand seats are priced at $8 through $17.50.

Song stylist Anita Baker, best known for her huge hit "Sweet Love," will perform one show on Monday, Aug. 10 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for Baker's concert will be $8, $11.50 and $14.50.

Stevie Ray Vaughan, blues/rock musician and guitarist supreme, will rock the grandstand stage on Wednesday, Aug. 12. Tickets are $8, $10.50 and $13.50.

On Sunday, Aug. 16, Crosby Stills and Nash will entertain fairgoers at an afternoon concert at 2 p.m. Cost of tickets will be $8, $10.50 and $13.50.

Tickets will go on sale at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 25, at the State Fair Park box office at the Riverside Theatre, 116 W. Wisconsin Ave., Milwaukee, and at Ticketron locations nationwide.

Each ticket will carry a box office service charge. Phone charge orders will be accepted at the Riverside Theatre, (414) 271-2000 and at Ticketron, (800) 843-1558/(312) 853-3636 in Chicago.

Other grandstand entertainment for the 1987 fair includes Alabama with Restless Heart on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 7 and 8; Hank Williams, Jr. on Thursday, Aug. 13; and the Statler Bros. on Friday, Aug. 14.

June 5-8 Is Free Fishing

Illinois will host its third annual Free Fishing Days celebration June 5 through 8, according to Mark Frech, director of the Dept. of Conservation.

"During those four days, residents and non-residents alike will be permitted to fish throughout the state of Illinois without having a fishing license or salmon stamp," Frech said. "In addition, we're hopeful that communities, park districts, clubs and organizations throughout the state will sponsor special events at lakes and streams to get new anglers on the water."

The director said the Dept. of Conservation would lend its support to the various special events by contributing educational materials and fishing equipment being donated by manufacturers from around the country.

Frech said that any community or organization wishing to host a special celebration during Free Fishing Days should contact the Dept. of Conservation, Office of Public Information, Attn: Ron Allen, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, 62706, telephone (217) 782-7454.

"We're proud of the sport fisheries opportunities we have in Illinois, and this is one way we can show it off to non-anglers, persons who traditionally fish out-of-state, and to non-residents," said Frech. "We encourage all Illinois communities to get involved in our four-day celebration."

Native Of Antioch Promotes TV Special

In March 1987 former Lake County resident James Sorensen, Ph.D. participated in several media activities to promote a television special "The Hidden Addict" and his recently published book for family members troubled by drug abuse.

Dr. Sorensen is a 1966 graduate of Antioch Community High School, the son of Les and Beverly Sorensen of Antioch. He is an adjunct associate professor at Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute and chief of substance abuse services in the Dept. of Psychiatry at University of California, San Francisco, at San Francisco General Hospital.

Dr. Sorensen was a guest on the nationally syndicated television show "Sally Jessy Raphael," was interviewed by ABC radio's "Directions Digest," CBS radio's "In Touch" program, and appeared on several New York radio programs.

"The Hidden Addict" television special was produced by Group W Television and aired around the country in March. The show underscores the dangers of four addictive behaviors: Alcoholism, cigarette smoking, cocaine abuse, and the eating disorder bulimia.

In conjunction with the show, a 16-page resource guide was created called "Is It Really Under Control? Coping With Hidden Addictions."

Plan Carefully Before Remodeling Property

It's remodeling season for American homeowners. However, before signing an agreement and leaping into a remodeling project, you should look carefully at the contractor's work habits, investigate his reputation and make sure that you have a contract providing safeguards for you in case of problems.

"If spring plans call for a home-improvement project, homeowners always charges by the contractor and bills for materials that the contractor has neglected to pay.

"In the absence of the proper documents, a home literally can be held hostage for outstanding bills, including charges that result from a legitimate misunderstanding," warned Bond.

If the dispute cannot be resolved, you carpenter, lumberyard or your architect may place a so-called "mechanic's lien" on your house. To establish a legal claim against the property on which the work was done, those seeking payment have only to file a lien with the local county recorder of deeds.

If a lien is filed, and the claim goes unpaid, a court can order that foreclosure proceedings begin. The proceeds from the sale would go to pay the claimants. As long as the lien clouds the title to the house, it makes it nearly impossible to sell.

"Before paying for home improvements, obtain a waiver of lien from the general contractor and each of the subcontractors," advised Bond.

"Homeowners should consider several contractors and get a minimum of three bids," said James Baumhart, vice president of the Better Business Bureau of Chicago. "Be sure the bids are for identical work with the same deadlines and same quality of materials."

Bids should not vary by more than 10 percent. Beware of a low bid. The contractor may be planning to use poor-quality material or inexperienced labor, or he may not factor in costly, unexpected construction complications.

But how do you find reputable contractors with good references? Experts told the Meyers Report it pays to ask the following questions:

Is the contractor licensed? Has he been in business at least five years?

Can the contractor show proof of liability insurance and workers' compensation? (Otherwise, you could be sued if a worker is injured on your property.)

Is the contractor willing to provide a one-year warranty on workmanship? Will he service warranties offered by the suppliers of materials and products he uses?

Does the contractor have a clean record with the Better Business Bureau? It's also a good idea to check the contractor's credit standing with his suppliers, his reputation for reliability and completing jobs on schedule, and of course, referrals from previous customers.

The second step in obtaining a successful remodeling job is writing a solid contract. Avoid signing "one way" contracts that would force you to pay, even if the job is not done to your satisfaction; make sure everything is in writing. Never sign a blank contract, and always obtain a copy of everything you sign.

Verbal promises mean nothing. If a contractor asks you to "trust him"—don't. Before you sign, be sure you know exactly how much the job will cost.

The full price, work completion and payment schedules should be included in the contract. Expect the contractor to add 10 percent to 15 percent to the actual cost of the project for his profit. If the profit margin is substantially higher, you are probably being overcharged.

Specifications for the job must be spelled out precisely in the contract. These should include the brand names, quality, grade, weight, color and size of the materials.

Ask for a "right to rescind" statement, which gives you the right to back out of a contract three working days after it is signed.

Never sign a contract for a substantial amount without checking with an attorney. The $100 or $200 spent for the lawyer may be the most inexpensive aprt of the deal.

Never sign a "completion certificate," which states that the job is done, until the job is finished and you are satisfied. If you are financing the job through a lender, the bank will not pay the contractor until it receives a signed completion certificate.

Make sure the contractor obtains all of the necessary building permits. Most fly-by-night contractors do not bother to obtain licenses or permits.

Bill Would Create Job Advisory Board

A measure introduced in the Illinois House creating community college employment boards would help two-year colleges coordinate their curriculum with the needs of local employers, according to State Rep. Virginia Frederick (R-59th), a co-sponsor of the bill.

Frederick said there is an unnecessarily high number of community college students dropping out of school because they fail to see the connection between their studies and potential jobs. Through these new employment boards, local employers will have input regarding community college's curriculum, and will become more involved in helping students bridge the gap between school and real jobs.

Under House Bill 850, each community college board of trustees would appoint a 15-member Employment

Advisory Board which would include local representatives of businesses, governmental units, nonprofit organizations, local employee groups and organizations which serve as advocates for the handicapped.

Each year, these job boards would be required to provide reports detailing medium- and long-term community employment prospects, the curricula needed to provide graduates with marketable skills; and the potential for supplementing classwork with existing and private in-district resources. The job boards' members, who would meet quarterly to advise colleges as to area job-training needs, would serve without pay.

Lancers Hope Baseball Season Ends On Bright Note

I would like to start off this week's column by making an apology to a friend of mine, Chris Ewert. A couple of issues back, I submitted a column containing information compiled by Ewert and failed to credit her as guest columnist.

College of Lake County's baseball team will be hoping to gain some late-season

Rams, Skyhawks Aim For Wins

As far as Johnsbury baseball coach Wayne Hiller is concerned, one aspect of the game is likely to determine the Skyhawks' success the rest of the season.

"Our hitting hasn't been very good. We need to score more runs," Hiller said as his team prepared for a home game against Lake Zurich April 24.

Frank Husak and Scott Bowerman are both hitting around the .300 mark, but those two are the top JHS hitters.

The Skyhawks are 1-3 in the early going, 1-2 in Northwest Suburban Conference play. Although Johnsbury notched its first win of the season with an 8-1 victory over Wauconda April 8, the Skyhawks lost to Grant 8-1 and Marengo 3-2.

Brian Fraiser picked up the victory against Wauconda and went the distance to boot.

However, Fraiser's fortunes did not last against Marengo. Johnsbury led entering the bottom of the seventh, only to see the Indians win the league encounter.

"Fraiser pitched a good game," Hiller said.

The early going has not changed Hiller's opinions about the NWSC race.

"After playing three teams in the league, the only team that dominated us was Grant," Hiller said.

Grayslake had three games scheduled for last week, but Mother Nature was not too cooperative, as the Rams could only get in a non-league contest.

And Grayslake found out why Stevenson is one of the top North Suburban Conference teams as the Rams lost 11-1.

"They're one of the better hitting teams in the state," Grayslake coach Jim Haas said.

The loss dropped the Rams record to 2-4.

After playing Lake Zurich April 22, Grayslake travels to Marian Central April 24.

momentum with four games in a five-day span.

The Lancers start the string April 23 when they host Northeastern. CLC completes its Skyway Conference season April 25 with an away game at Truman. The last two games of the regular season are April 26 against Waukesha and April 28 against Chicago Circle. Both of the last two games are at home.

The Lancers continued to dominate teams as of late. The Lancers started with a doubleheader sweep over McHenry County College, winning 9-1 and 16-8.

CLC then notched a come-from-behind win against Harper, scoring a run in the bottom of the seventh inning for a 7-6 decision. In that game, left fielder Roy Salinas belted a two-run homer and added a sacrifice fly to

In game two, CLC won 12-2 on the 10-run rule. Pitcher Scott Padilla went the distance, allowing only two hits in upping his record to 2-0.

Offensively for the Lancers, Jeff Potts led the way with a three-for-four day. Potts had a homer and two runs-batted-in. Salinas was one-for-two with a homer and Gerard Guistino was one-for-three with one RBI.

CLC then enjoyed doubleheader sweeps over Malcom X and Kankakee. Against Kankakee, CLC won 17-4 and 8-3. In game one, the third inning proved to be the key for Lake County, as the Lancers bounced back from a 2-0 deficit to score 13 runs.

Guistino belted a grand-slam and a three-run triple for a seven-rbi inning as CLC battered around. Salinas added a double and gained four rbis. Mike Foote had his first homer of the season, a two-run shot. Frank Diana also collected two hits, including a triple and a single with two rbi's as CLC romped. Winning pitcher was Doug Sparks, who bettered his mark to 3-0.

In the second game, Salinas continued his dominance, collecting three hits with a homer, triple and two RBIs. Eric Lemm ripped a two-run single and Jerry Brown had two hits.

John Stair picked up his first win in going the distance.

"We really have a lot of firepower on this team. We're capable of scoring runs and our pitching has been very respectable," head coach Gene Hanson said.

Antioch Faces Mustangs, Vikings

If Antioch's baseball team continues its ability to stay close to opponents, coach Rich Brown believes the Sequoits could make some hay as the North Suburban Conference season heats up.

"We've had some misfortunes in not having all the players here because of them not being available, but we've shown a tremendous ability to stay in the games," Brown said.

The Sequoits face Mundelein in a home contest April 23 before traveling to Niles North April 25. Next week, Antioch faces Warren April 28 and 30.

The Sequoits were 3-5 through eight games and split the first two games of the NSC slate against Libertyville. After losing the opener 9-3, Antioch battled back to win the nightcap 5-4.

Jeff Burgmeier picked up the victory against the Wildcats, his third of the season. Burgmeier went the distance in the see-saw contest.

Antioch was trailing 4-3 in the seventh inning but rallied for two runs thanks to sharp baserunning. Antioch used the suicide squeeze play to score two runs as the pitch was wild.

"We ran the bases real well that inning and forced them to make mistakes," Brown said.

Burgmeier was Antioch's winning pitcher in a 7-4 decision over Woodstock. Burgmeier registered 13 strikeouts and only allowed five walks in the contest.

Homers were Antioch's main offensive thrust as Brian Pankauskas belted a two-run shot and Jarod Fogel hit a three-run blast to account for five of Antioch's seven runs.

Antioch battled back from an early deficit against Grant to tie the game with a six-run sixth. But that did not prove to be enough because the Bulldogs, favored to win the Northwest Suburban Conference, scored two runs in their half of the seventh.

Antioch had gained a brief 8-7 lead in the seventh on doubles by Pankauskas and Fogel.

NWSC Slate Next Challenge For Grant's Baseball Squad

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Now Grant's baseball team can get down to some serious business.

Thanks to Mother Nature, the Bulldogs have had to wait until this week to begin the bulk of their Northwest Suburban Conference schedule. Games against Wauconda, Grayslake and Lake Zurich in a five-day period should leave coach Fritz Kazlauskys with a better idea if his team will play up to pre-season expectations.

"After this week, we only have one more conference game left, so we can concentrate on our conference schedule," Kazlauskys said as his team prepared to face Wauconda April 24 in an away game.

Although the Bulldogs' game against Marian Central was rained out, Grant did manage to chalk up a win over Johnsbury in league play and beat four non-league teams to raise its record to 10-4 overall, 2-0 in NWSC play.

"We're hitting the ball pretty well now and we're pretty set as far as who we are going to play where," Kazlauskys said.

Senior pitcher Joe Vocke won three of the five games won by Grant that extended its winning streak to 10 straight. Vocke was the winner in Grant's 4-3 win over Camrel, beat Johnsbury 8-1 and Maine East 8-2. Mike McDonald beat Antioch 9-8 and junior Butch Gorski won was the winner in a 10-3 win over Maine East in the second game of a doubleheader.

In the game against Carmel, the Bulldogs had to rally from a 3-1 deficit in the sixth inning. With two out, Franl Geu and Vocke walked, MacDonald singled and Clint Morely drove home all three with a three-run double.

Carmel outlived Grant 8-6 but Vocke fanned seven Crosair batters and did not walk one.

Vocke came back and had a no-hitter through four innings against Johnsbury. Johnsbury's Frank Husak broke up the bid for a no-hitter, but the senior pitched steadily in the later innings.

Grant had 10 hits on the day, led by Mike Kazlauskys with three hits and Vocke with two.

Against Antioch, the Bulldogs were determined that the fans' heartbeat fluctuate a bit. Ahead 7-0, the Bulldogs seemingly had win

No. eight locked up after five innings.

But the Sequoits battled back. Antioch scored sixth in the sixth and added two more in the seventh for an 8-7 lead.

Never fear, Grant faithful. The Bulldogs answered with two runs in the seventh for the win. McDonald's RBI single, his third RBI of the day, was the difference.

Kazlauskys and Morley had two hits each.

Vocke threw a four-hitter at Maine East in the first game as Grant blew open a close contest with a four-run third and a three-run fourth.

Vocke had two hits, including a two-run homer in the fourth inning. McDonald contributed two doubles to Grant's 11-hit attack.

Kazlauskys went with youth in the second game against Maine East as junior Rich Wilson started and Gorski relieved.

"Both juniors did a pretty good job," Kazlauskys said.

Jahnke Notches Win

Warren Twp. High School graduate Dave Jahnke has notched a win for Augustana's baseball team.

Jahnke pitched six solid innings as the Vikings beat Illinois Wesleyan 13-2. Jahnke is in his senior season for the Vikings.

"We played pretty well last week. We got some great pitching in our games with Knox, our performance against Illinois Wesleyan was solid and we haven't beaten St. Ambrose since I have been here so that was a nice win," Augustana coach Barry Bilkey said.

Webb Seeks To Contribute

An Antioch High School graduate completed her sophomore season on the Eastern Illinois University women's basketball team.

Brenda Webb was fifth among EIU players in scoring at 6.8 points per game while averaging 2.9 rebounds a contest. Webb scored in double figures nine games this past season, including a career-high 19 points against Bradley. She also had a career-high seven rebounds against the Braves.

"Brenda matured as a college player this season," coach Barbara Hilke said. "She was one of the best high-post shooters in the league. She will make a strong impact on the team as she gains consistency."

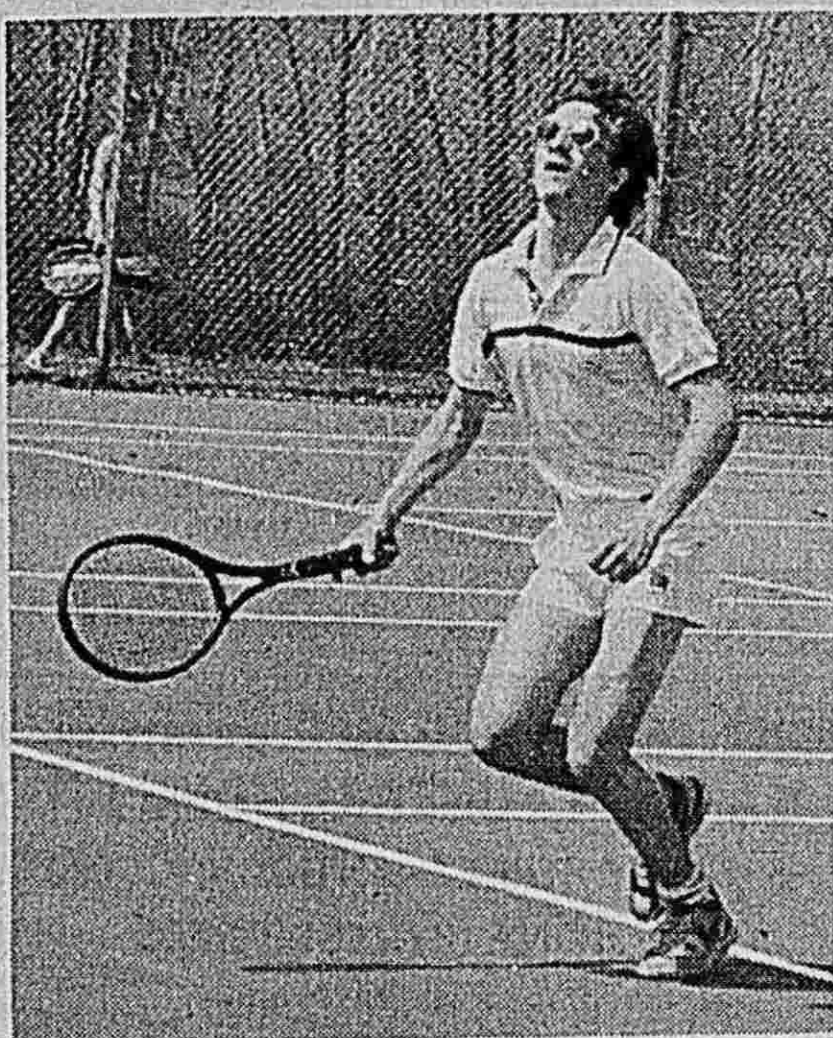

The Lady Panthers were 17-13 overall and third in the Gateway Conference with a 11-7 record, their highest league finish since becoming a member five years ago.

EIU, the third seed in the conference playoffs, upset No. 2 Southwest Missouri State 82-71 before losing to nationally ranked and top seeded Southern Illinois 53-51 in the championship game of the tournament.

SIU received the league's automatic bid to the NCAA victory.

The Lady Panthers lose only one player from this year's squad - senior guard Pat Hamilton, who was a second-team Gateway Conference selection after leading EIU in scoring 14 points per game and steals at 2.3. She tied for second in the league for steals per game and was 10th in scoring. Hamilton's field-goal percentage of .547 was fifth-best in the conference.

We're making a dramatic point

That freckle-sized dot is the size of a beginning tumor in a breast. A mammogram could detect it today, with almost 100% chance for full recovery. It could be as long as two years from today before that tiny point would grow enough to be detected in manual examination. By then the recovery rate has dropped to 60%.

Doesn't it make sense to see your physician for a prescription for a mammogram? Especially if you are in the age groups or risk categories where breast cancer is more frequently detected?

April is Cancer Crusade Month, so The Women's Health and Lifestyle Center at NIMC is making you a special offer. In conjunction with The American Cancer Society's focus this year on mammography and breast health, NIMC is making a base-line mammogram available to you for only $55. The usual fee is $90, so the savings is substantial.

The only requirements are: you must have a physician's order for the screening (your doctor may call The Women's Health and Lifestyle Center or give you a written prescription); and you must make your appointment during the month of April. Even if your screening cannot be scheduled until May, due to demand, the special offer is valid as long as your appointment was made in April, the Cancer Crusade month.

Evening and Saturday appointments are available in addition to the regular daytime hours. Call 815 344-5000, 3301, Monday through Friday, 8:00 am to 4:00 pm to schedule. The Women's Health and Lifestyle Center is located on the upper level, Suite E in the Professional Arts Building adjacent to the medical center at Route 31 and Bull Valley Road, McHenry.

Many Options Available For Owners Of Lemons

by GARY S. MEYERS

If you are one of the thousands of Americans who went shopping for a car but brought home a lemon, don't despair; laws protecting car buyers have been strengthened in the past few years.

In 1982, California, Connecticut and the District of Columbia passed "lemon laws" to make it easier for consumers to return defective automobiles to dealers and get new cars or their money back. Today, 41 states have laws protecting car buyers, and others are studying them.

In the past, there were few specific rules on what constituted a "lemon"—a car so fraught with problems that it was useless to repair it. If a consumer wanted a refund or replacement car, he had to file a lawsuit against the dealer or manufacturer, but often he would win only an order that the vehicle be repaired, and then end up with the same problem again a few months later.

Now, most state lemon laws include specific guidelines on what constitutes a lemon, and require the manufacturer to either replace the car or refund the buyer's money if a major defect is not repaired after several attempts. You may still have to go to court to get results, but lemon laws give consumers far more leverage than they had in the past.

Lemon laws were passed, in part, because new car warranties usually offer inadequate protection. Even though many of today's new cars are protected in writing for six or seven years or 60,000 or 70,000 miles, the warranty promises only to repair the car, not to replace it or reimburse the owner for losses he has suffered because he has had a broken vehicle.

In many states, a car is declared a lemon if it has been in the shop four times for the same problem, or if it has spent a total of 30 days in the shop for the same defect during the first year or the first 12,000 miles. Some states are stricter; Florida, for example, considers a car a lemon after three repair attempts or a total of 15 days in the shop.

Some state laws allow buyers to be reimbursed not only for the car's price, but also to collect other expenses, including license and registration fees, sales taxes, dealer preparation fees, towing charges and auto rentals.

If you put a substantial amount of mileage on the car, the manufacturer can deduct a reasonable usage charge from the refund. For example, under some statutes, if you drove the car 5,000 miles, the dealer might be allowed to deduct 10 cents per mile for usage, reducing your refund by $500.

If something does happen to your car, good record keeping will greatly improve your chances of winning your case. If a serious mechanical problem occurs, jot down the number of times and the dates the car was in the shop. Keep copies of all the work orders, showing the labor performed, parts installed and the dates you got the car back.

If you think the car qualifies as a lemon, send a letter to both the manufacturer and dealer detailing the problem and the attempts to fix it. Include such basic information as the make, model and year of the car, vehicle identification number and date purchased. Attach copies of any repair invoices along with a statement that the defect has not been corrected.

All conversations with the manager or employees at the dealership should be summarized in letters to the manufacturer. Send the letter by certified mail, return receipt requested.

Most state lemon laws require arbitration of the dispute before a consumer can sue the manufacturer. In all but six states, the programs are sponsored by manufacturers. Ford and Chrysler have their own arbitration boards, while General Motors, Honda, Volkswagen, Nissan and Porsche contract their arbitration with local Better Business Bureaus. Some car makers use Autocap, an arbitration program administered by the National Automobile Dealers Assn.

Some of these arbitration boards do not meet Federal Trade Commission requirements for due process—General Motors' in particular. This means that consumers are not required to resort to them before they sue the manufacturer.

Most consumer advocates and some state attorneys generally do not think that manufacturer-sponsored arbitration boards issue fair settlements. While consumers have a better chance of getting their lemons fixed properly after an arbitration hearing, less than 10 percent are awarded a refund or replacement, according to Phillip Nowicki, a doctoral candidate at New York's Syracuse University, whose dissertation is on lemon laws.

In response to criticism, six states and the District of Columbia have created state-run arbitration boards, and three others have legislation pending that would create similar programs. Nowicki's study shows that consumers do better before these boards.

with 49 percent receiving refunds or replacements. (States with their own programs are: Connecticut, Massachusetts, Montana, New York, Texas and Vermont.)

In any case, before you go into arbitration, it is a good idea to hire a lawyer. Your local bar association can recommend lawyers experienced in lemon-law cases. Merely putting an attorney on the case often is enough to move the dealer or manufacturer to settle the case without further proceedings.

Lawyers' fees vary in lemon-law cases. They may run from $50 for an initial consultation, to $750, depending on the case and the amount of money involved.

About half the lemon-law states have provisions for reimbursing consumers for attorney's fees if they successfully sue manufacturers or dealers. In these states, lawyers are more likely to take lemon-law cases, and as a result, manufacturers are more likely to settle out of court to the consumer's satisfaction.

Lawmakers Busy Sorting Nearly 4,400 New Bills

Lawmakers will spend the next several weeks in committee hearings as they sift through nearly 4,400 bills introduced this year in the state Senate and House, according to Republican Caucus Chair Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion). The 1,517 bills introduced in the Senate and 2,876 bills filed in the House top the old record set in 1985.

Sen. Geo-Karis explained the deadline for filing legislation arrived last week. Bills introduced after the deadline can be heard during the spring session only on an emergency basis.

Among the bills introduced as the deadline approached were the following:

Ballistic Knives (SB 1037)—Bans the sale or possession of ballistic knives, a new type of weapon which uses a powerful spring to propel a knife blade at a target.

Senior Drivers (SB 1072)—Exempts senior citizens from the Vehicle Emissions Inspection Law that requires air pollution tests of vehicles in Chicago, some suburban areas and the Metro-East area near St. Louis.

Drug Tax (SB1154)—Gives law enforcement officials a new tool to go after drug dealers by requiring a tax stamp on illegal drugs. Drug pushers who fail to purchase the tax stamps could face additional criminal charges along with loss of assets for tax evasion.

Elder Abuse (SB 1226)—Requires the state Dept. on Aging to design and maintain a statewide program to prevent abuse of the elderly.

Tuition Assistance (SB1237)—Creates the Parental Property Tax Relief Act which provides property tax relief grants of up to $1,000 for parents whose children attend elementary or secondary schools which charge tuition.

Drugs and Bail (SB 1455)—Permits courts to require a drug test as a condition of bail in felony cases.

Drunk Driving (SB 1471)—Calls for an automatic five-year license suspension for a second offense of driving under the influence. A third offense would require a 10-year license suspension.

Farm Implements (SB 894)—Creates a "Farm Implement Buyer Protection Act" that requires a minimum one-year warranty on the sale of new farm implements.

Country Inns (SB 1421)—Gives municipalities and counties the power to regulate bed and breakfast establishments, including minimum standards for furnishings, fire safety, insurance and food supplies.

Crime Victims (SB 1159)—Law enforcement officials may not require a victim to take a lie detector test before they file charges or begin prosecution of a case.

Product Liability (SB 1059)—Tightens product liability laws by protecting manufacturers from lawsuits if a feasible alternative design was not available at the time the product was manufactured.

Handicapped Children (SB 1382)—Requires school districts to notify the state Dept. of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities at least two years before a child graduates from high school or turns 21, if the child is going to need continuing services. A serious problem facing the state is the cost of care for mentally handicapped young adults. This bill is designed to help the state plan and prepare for the ongoing care that these individuals may need.

Child Abuse (SB 1270)—Gives school the right to conceal from parents the whereabouts of a child who may be the victim of abuse. Schools would be required to refer the parents to the agency that has been assigned responsibility for the care of the child.

Enterprise Zone (SB 981)—Increases the maximum square miles allowed for an enterprise zone and raises the number of enterprise zones allowed under Illinois law.

Child Testimony (SB 1418)—Allows children to testify in court via closed circuit television. The defendant would be allowed to watch the testimony but would be segregated from the child witness, so that the child could neither hear nor see the defendant.

Sour Stuff

Acetic acid, an organic and industrial chemical, is what gives vinegar its sour taste.

Ag Diversification (SB 1452)—Creates an Agricultural Diversification Revolving Fund to award grants to experiment with new crops and products.

Tax Liability (SB 1229)—An innocent spouse who has been relieved of liability for federal tax fraud by the Internal Revenue Service would automatically be excused from liability for the state tax return filed that same year.

Speedy Spores

In one case on record, strong winds behind a cold front carried spores of a fungus from Minnesota to Georgia in two days.

WEDDING BELLS? — On "Knots Landing," Gary Ewing (Ted Shackelford) and Jill Bennett (Teri Austin) are planning to marry, but the smart money says that if the wedding ever comes off, it's going to be next season. Gary's carrying a little too much baggage from his previous marriages, and Jill, of course, has had problems of her own. "Knots Landing" airs Thursdays on CBS.

By Paul Elie

"The Honeymooners," perhaps the most perfect sitcom ever created, was actually a spinoff of sorts. It was originally a part of a larger show, "The Jackie Gleason Show."

In fact, there were several Jackie Gleason variety shows. The original "Jackie Gleason Show" premiered on DuMont in 1950, aired for two seasons, then left the struggling network when CBS offered to finance a more elaborate production — and gave a whopping raise to Gleason.

The resulting CBS show, which aired until 1955, spawned "The Honeymooners," a skit featuring Gleason, Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Joyce Randolph. The beleaguered Brooklyn couples became so popular that the next season "The Honeymooners" entirely replaced "The Jackie Gleason Show."

But "The Honeymooners" garnered lackluster ratings, so in 1956 Gleason returned with a variety show that featured the old format. After a brief monologue, Gleason would introduce the first skit, bellowing, "And away we go!" The skits usually featured Gleason playing characters like Joe the Bartender, the Repairman and Reggie Van Gleason III.

Later Gleason shows strayed further from the original approach. A 1958 variety show teamed Gleason with Buddy Hackett; that show was canceled within three months. "The Jackie Gleason Show: The American Scene Magazine" lasted from 1962-66 and relied on talent contests and musical and celebrity guests, rather than Gleason's blustery charm.

The final "Jackie Gleason Show," which aired from 1966-70, reunited Gleason and Carney. But the old chemistry was missing.

Question: What was Gleason's nickname on the original show?

Answer: "The Great One"

The Chicago Regional Office Department of Housing and Urban Development has determined that there is no practicable alternative to partial fill of a floodplain and construction of a boat ramp in Deep Lake as shown in the plans for the referenced proposal. In response to comments from the Notice of Intent To Take Action In A Floodplain/Wetland the sponsor has redesigned the plans so that no portion of the residential structure will be situated in the floodplain. Portions of a parking lot and the detention pond remain in the identified floodplain. The ILEPA and US ACOE have permitted the boat ramp construction. Section I. Findings and Determinations. It is hereby found and determined:

A. That notice of public hearing to amend the Grayslake Subdivision Control Ordinance, being Ordinance No. 79-0-4, as amended, was duly published on the 18th day of December, 1986 in the Grayslake Times indicating a public hearing before the Plan Commission of the Village would be held on the 6th day of January, 1987;

Section II. Subdivision Control Ordinance Amendment. The Subdivision Control Ordinance, Ordinance No. 79-0-4, as amended, is hereby further amended to increase the size of water mains from six inches to eight inches in subparagraphs a and b of paragraph 1 of Subsection C, Section 604, as follows:

Fox Lake To Tear Building

The Fox Lake village board approved an ordinance to request demolition of a building at 56 N. Pistakee Lake Rd. during its meeting March 16.

The trustees instructed the attorney, Gil Johnson, to take this action into court. The building, in a state of reconstruction, is located behind the 1st National Pizza on Rte. 12.

Mayor William Dam pointed out that this building is the subject of the only court case the village has lost. He said the court mandated the owner could continue remodeling as long as he submitted a proper plan by architects, which he did. But, the mayor added, the owner subsequently failed to follow that architectural plan or standard building procedures and that unsafe practices had been used.

Self-Mowing

Imagine a lawn that repels weeds, resists disease, dislikes fertilizer, stays green late in the season—and best of all—barely grows! According to International Wildlife magazine, a Canadian geneticist says he has produced 35 lines of such a miracle grass from 17 alpine species. The Canadian government is already using the slow-growing grasses along highways, but it will be another four years or so before they're available commercially.

Plastics Company To Make Move To Antioch

Braeside Plastics Corp. has purchased the former H and S Corp. industrial plant in Antioch, and will move its manufacturing operations and corporate offices from Round Lake Heights in late spring, announced Paine/Wetzel Associates, Inc.

The 32,200 square foot manufacturing building is located on 1.5 acres of land at 795 Bartlett. Asking price for the property was $545,000. Braesides's new Antioch building will provide almost three times the manufacturing and office space found at its existing facility.

Marshall Friedman, vice president with Paine/Wetzel, represented H and S in the transaction and Kevin Lynch of Podolsky and Associates represented Braeside Plastics. Joel S. Polisky of the law firm of Cohen, Wulfstat, Semer, Liff and Rosenberg, Ltd. was counsel for the seller and Robert J. Masini of Diver, Ballman, Grack and Quade was attorney for the purchaser.

Paine/Wetzel Associates, Inc. is a full service real estate firm based in Chicago providing brokerage services in the sale and leasing of industrial and commercial properties and vacant land.

Florida Debates New Tourist Industry Taxes

With the Chattanooga Choo-Choo's whistle fading into the distance, we followed I-75 southward and skipped over the border into Georgia. Remember to stop at state visitor centers, found on most major routes. Here pamphlets and details of attractions are available for future decisions.

Driving through Atlanta is now an easy trip, although we never understood why traffic speeds increase in metropolitan areas, then drop from 65 back to 62 as the country highway takes over. During the day, temperatures climbed into the low 70's. With a bright sun, the solarium affect of a station wagon brought the need for air conditioning comfort...first time in six months.

Georgia offers a large selection of enroute clothing stores which make interesting rest stops.

Next day we entered Florida and stopped to sample the free fruit juice and pick up a current map and localized information. We were glad that orange juice is again being offered to visitors at the center. It is much sweeter and more representative of the state. We never forgot the surprised expressions of some who sampled sour grapefruit juice on previous occasions, especially children who grimaced and handed it back to mom.

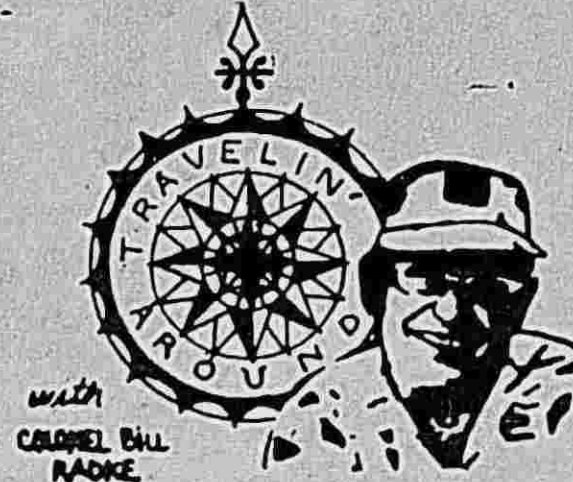

Questioning the 55 mph speed regulations so promptly posted, the word is, 62 is basically accepted on interstates during good driving conditions, but stay below 65...that's still a no-no.

Florida, like most other states, is seeking new operating funds...added tourist tax is being considered. Probably no other state generates as much of its income from tourists. Weather advantages have made it the fastest growing state for those seeking the sun, and population increase by one person every one-and-a-half hour.

New taxes on established tourism rates are being suggested by legislators. Local tourism interests fear further taxing of "the goose that lays the golden egg." This may work to the state's disadvantage by making Florida economically unattractive to business and tourist dollars. Rather, they suggest, add one percent to the state sales tax and create more income with less confusion.

The Florida building industry is booming and vacant ground space is scarce. Hotels and condos are appearing on every horizon which includes a background of water. Among all this new construction, and the endless traffic stream, it was pleasant to tour the venerable Don Cesar Hotel at St. Petersburg Beach. It is the massive, newly renovated, pink and white building which dominates the skyline, slightly less today than in 1928, when it was opened as the Gulf Coast's most palatial resort. It has not lost the charm and excellence which kept it alive. Survival of such quality is somehow reassuring.

Jaws

What has a jaw large enough to drive a small car through and a body longer than two school buses? Car-charodon megalodon, the 30-million-year-old ancestor of today's great white sharks. According to Ranger Rick magazine, there were no people around when this big fish lived.

Cake Tip

If a cake slips while you are icing it, skewer the layers together until the icing sets.

10 reasons why you should maintain and increase your newspaper advertising when business is slow.

1. Whether business is good or slow, you have to get your share of whatever business is around. Cutting back your advertising puts you at a disadvantage at the very moment when you need an edge. Increasing your advertising gives you the edge.

2. In times of uncertainty, consumers are careful and a little reluctant to spend. They want to be sure before they buy; they want information about products, services, prices and values. The best source is newspaper advertising. Yours—or somebody else's.

3. Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so it's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong. You're in competition for the customer's dollar with very other retailer in town, no matter what he or she sells. People have only so many dollars to spend and if they don't spend them for what you sell they'll spend them for something else.

4. There are more people working now than ever before. More women working, too, adding to the family income. People still need and want goods and services and will spend for them. There is plenty of business out there. Your competitors will be bidding for their share—and yours.

5. You can't do much about most factors in the marketplace: rent, labor cost, price or merchandise, what the competition will do. But one thing you do control is your own promotion. Remember that newspaper advertising is not just a cost of doing business. It's a proven sales tool that returns many times your investment in store traffic and sales.

6. Remember how long it took you to get started? Once you build up a business, you can keep it going with a moderate, consistent advertising program. But if you cut your advertising and lose your hold on the public's awareness you'll find it's much harder to build it up again. It's sort of like starting all over.

7. Your advertising is part of your sales force. Newspaper ads help to pre-sell the customers and help you close the sale faster. What saves you time saves you money.

8. You say your customers know you and for a while at least they'll keep coming in even if you don't promote? That's partly true, but shortsighted. Remember, one out of five Americans moves every year. So there's a steady flow of your customers out of your market, and a corresponding influx of new folks who don't know you at all. Tell them about yourself.

9. Here's a hard fact to chew on. Over any given period, a business that advertises below the industry average has sales that are below the industry average.

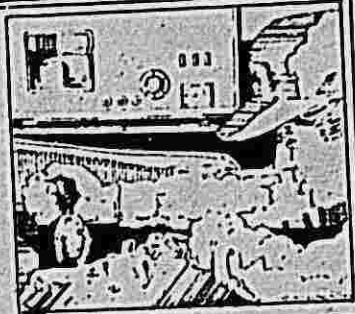

10. Advertising is "news" — about products and services. Your customers look for this kind of news in the pages of Lakeland Newspapers. In plush times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

CALL YOUR LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES. WE'LL HELP YOU PLAN A PROGRAM THAT WILL PAY DIVIDENDS IN ADDITIONAL STORE TRAFFIC AND INCREASED SALES.

LaBelle's Non-Resignation Leaves County In Limbo

Just Politics

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

TWO WEEKS AGO, the regular Republicans and allies of Lake County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) predicted confidently that they had the votes to elect Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) the new chairman now that LaBelle has accepted a job with the state.

That's just fine by me. If you have the votes, you are entitled to be chairman (or chairperson.)

Then, when the board met, LaBelle gave his resignation, but set no specific date on it. Kind of resigning without having to go. Why did he do this? It seems he wants to wait until there is enough support for one candidate to avoid a protracted fight. In other words, he will wait until there are enough votes for Moore.

LaBelle has been a chairman through some very difficult times. Though I have frequently disagreed with him, I understand that he has been a better chairman than he has often been given credit for. But I don't believe for a minute that he has the right to hold onto the chair in name only in order to impose his will on the board.

Moore is occupying LaBelle's office right now. LaBelle is in his Chicago office, doing his state job. If Moore has the votes, let her show it and let's have an election. If she does not, then let the board fight it out.

There is pressing business before the board. It should not be held up. Rep. Norm Geary (R-Grayslake) says that LaBelle is "holding the board hostage" in order to insure the election of Moore. I think that is very aptly put. If LaBelle won't give an effective date, then the board should consider declaring the chairman's seat vacant. I understand they are doing just that.

To paraphrase an old saying, Jim LaBelle should sit or get off the spot.

THE CITIZENS OF Lake County for Environmental Action Reform (CLEAR) have planned a clever way to demonstrate how far air-borne incinerator ash can travel.

On Saturday, April 25, at 10 a.m., 1,000 black helium-filled balloons will be launched near the site of the proposed Waste Management incinerator. The launch will take place at the Titus farm. It is farm west of Rte. 45 on the north side of Peterson Rd. Balloons will be attached to the mailbox to mark the site.

According to shelly Auble, a spokesperson for CLEAR, the black balloons are meant to represent the toxic chemical, dioxyn. Each balloon will have a card attached to it asking finders to contact their county board representatives and say they are against incineration.

NOW THAT I have made everyone mad as can be with my latest comments on Waste Management, Inc., I hope people can sit back and take a look at this thing.

In spite of the respect I have come to have for Waste Management's environmental record, I still believe this request should be denied. But my reasons are a bit different.

While Waste Management has, indeed, substantially met the criteria as stated in the original Solid Waste Advisory Committee report, there are two crucial elements that have not been met. First, the Solid Waste Planning Agency (agency) was to hold siting hearings. Second, it was to seek competitive bids.

Both of those elements are crucial to creating the best possible plan for the county and both requirements pre-date the Heartland agreement. I believe that changes in the criteria that came after the signing of that agreement will be suspect when the Pollution Control Board hears the case.

It does no good to try to portray Waste Management as terrible polluters. It is well-documented that, as of April 1983, it had disasters striking left and right. It is equally well-documented that, since that time, it has responded so well that it has what is one of the best environmental records in the industry.

The point is, any successful fight against the current proposal will recognize:

-that Waste Management must be dealt with in any final settlement of the issue.

-that the Pollution Control Board will take a very dim view of any criteria that were changed after Waste Management submitted its proposal.

We all want what is best for our area. Waste Management has shown it is willing to work with a community to help find solutions that are broadly acceptable. I believe there is a way to resolve this thing without denying anyone their rights.

How Reagan Might Give Gettysburg Address

by JOHN STEINKE

The Iran arms deal reveals how disengaged Ronald Reagan is from the operation of his government. He is a chief executive who is not only uninformed but chooses not to know what is going on in his name. Nor does Reagan possess any sense of our country's history. Here is the complete transcript of how Ronald Reagan might have delivered Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address:

"I haven't checked these figures, but 87 years ago I think it was, a number of individuals organized a government setup here in this country. I believe it covered certain Eastern areas, with this idea they were following up based on a sort of national-independence arrangement and the program that every individual is just as good as every other individual. Well, now of course, we are dealing with this big difference of opinion, civil disturbance you might say, although I don't like to appear to take sides or name any individuals, and the point is naturally to check up, by actual experience in the field, to see whether any governmental setup with a basis like the one I was mentioning has any validity, whether that dedication, you might say, by those early individuals will pay off in lasting values.

"Well, here we are, you might put it that way, all together at the same where one of those disturbances between different sides got going. We want to pay tribute to those loved ones, those departed individuals who made the supreme sacrifice here on the basis of their opinions about how this setup ought to be handled. It is absolutely in order and 100 percent okay.

"But if you look at the overall picture of this, we can't pay any tribute—we can't sanctify this area. . . we can't hallow according to whatever individual creeds or faiths or sort of religious outlooks are involved—like I said about this particular area. It was those individuals themselves, including the enlisted men, very brave individuals, who have given this religious character to the area. The way I see it, the rest of the Free World will not remember any statements issued here, but it will never forget how those men put their shoulders to the wheel and carried this idea down the horse trail every Wednesday.

"Our job, the living individuals' job here, is to pick up the burden and watch the scenes they made those big efforts here for. It is our job to get on with the assignment—and from these deceased fine individuals to take extra inspiration, you could call it, for the same theories about the setup for which they did such a lot. We have to make up our minds right here and now, as I see it, that they didn't put out all that blood, perspiration and—well—that they didn't make a dry run here, and that all of us here, under God, that is, the God of our TV evangelists, shall beef up this idea about freedom of all individuals, by all individuals and for the individuals, shall not pass out of the world picture."

Let's win one for the Gipper!!!

3 Smelting Areas At Lakefront

Smelt fishermen will have free access to three public areas at Illinois Beach State Park throughout the smelt fishing season, according to Bob Grosso, site superintendent.

Smelt fishing areas at the park include the South Unit, Camp Logan at 17th St. and the recently acquired Spring Bluff Boat Access Area. All three areas will be open from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. throughout the smelt season, which began April 1 and continues to the end of the smelt run, about May 15.

A spring tradition along the Chicago/Waukegan lakefront, the smelt season annually attracts thousands of urban anglers who use dip nets and throw nets to take the tiny silver-sided fish. Many smelt fishermen set up small charcoal grills or camp stoves and cook their catch on the spot.

For further information about the Illinois Beach smelt fishing areas, call the park office at (312)662-4881.

Gemstones Popularity Growing

Partly because we live in a much more color-conscious world, and partly because of the influence of a storybook romance, there's a trend toward new brides opting for engagement rings that feature colored stones, reports the Jewelry Industry Council.

When Princess Diana proudly exhibited her beautiful sapphire engagement ring rimmed with small diamonds, she added impetus to the popularity of colored stone engagement rings.

Colored gemstones selected for engagement rings are usually one of the big three—ruby, sapphire or emerald, but some brides favor pearls. Small wonder these beauties are chosen, for each has a claim in folklore to attributes that add to wedded bliss.

The ruby, which signifies contentment, also was renowned for its healing powers.

The emerald, whose wearers are purported to be lucky in love, is an ideal selection for an engagement ring.

Health Series Addresses Parenting

"Positive Parenting" will be the subject of a free public program at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 28, at the Warren-Newport Public Library in Gurnee. The first in a series of six called "Rx: To Your Health," this program will discuss ways to improve the parent-child relationship and deal with common problems. Speaker will be Hope Hornstein, assistant director of consultation and education at Ravenswood Hospital Community Mental Health Center. For more information, call the library at (312)244-5150.

Bowling Against Muscular Dystrophy

The Waukegan Firefighter Local 473 and Rinella Beverage Co. will sponsor the second annual Frank Mercer Memorial Bowling Tourney on Saturday and Sunday, April 25 and 26, to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. (MDA). The tourney will be held at Lakehurst Lanes, near Lakehurst Mall. Teams of five bowlers may participate; a $50 entry donation for MDA is requested. Cash prizes will be awarded from first through fifth place, as well as give-aways and strike prizes. For more information, contact Dan Young at (312)662-1348 or the MDA office at (815)226-9120.

Unions' Political Clout Is Steadily Declining

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

In the 1984 presidential election, for the first time, the AFL-CIO endorsed a candidate before the presidential primaries. The AFL-CIO issued a pre-convention endorsement of former Vice President Walter Mondale for the Democratic presidential nomination. But for a time, challenger Gary Hart, the senator from Colorado, made political hay by charging that Mondale was too closely tied to labor unions.

Hart accused AFL-CIO leaders of manipulating the Democratic Party for their own "special interests." He challenged their endorsed candidate, Walter Mondale, to name one issue on which he disagreed with labor. The Colorado Senator charged that local unions were illegally funneling contributions to the Mondale campaign and demanded that Mondale give the money back. Despite labor's support for Mondale, about half of union households voted for other candidates in the Democratic presidential primaries.

But there is little doubt that organized labor helped Mondale get started as a candidate and later survive Gary Hart's surge in the primaries. It provided Mondale with a vast organization of volunteers and millions in campaign funds. Union activists engineered an early caucus victory in Iowa for Mondale, and later saved his tottering campaign in Pennsylvania and Illinois. Mondale also received $14 million from the AFL-CIO's national political action committee and hundreds of thousands more from local union PACs, which funded his delegate committees.

Labor's political power is steadily eroding. In 1984, Mondale eventually won the Democratic nomination, but he lost 49 states to President Ronald Reagan in the November contest. Labor leaders were able to deliver only 55 percent of union households to Mondale in the 1984 general election despite the most costly and exhaustive effort to back a candidate in the AFL-CIO's history. Mondale clearly suffered from being portrayed as a pawn of the labor bosses.

The last presidential race reaffirmed the Democratic Party's inextricable historical connection with the objectives of the American labor movement dating back to the Franklin D. Roosevelt era. It also demonstrated the ability of Republican candidates to use that close relationship against the Democrats in recent elections.

Other problems plague organized labor. The AFL-CIO membership has dipped from 20 million to 13 million members in the past decade. Many union leaders collaborate with the multinational corporations at the expense of the rank-and-file membership. Both AFL-CIO president Lane Kirkland and Albert Shanker of the American Federation of Teachers are affiliated with David Rockefeller's Trilateral Commission.

Used Car Loans For People Who'd Rather Spend Less On A Used Car And More On Themselves.

9.9% APR on any used car.

The only problem with most used car loans is that they usually come with pretty high interest rates.

Which usually means a bigger monthly payment than you'd like.

So now until May 30 is a good time to see us. Because our used car rate is our lowest in years.

And since it's good on any used car, you can buy the car that suits your budget.

Just make your best deal with a dealer or private seller. Then talk to us.

You could end up getting a better deal than you bargained for.
